

Skeet Shoot Raises more than $14,100

Florida Log a Load for Kids, which raises funds for children’s hospitals in Florida, raised over $14,100 for Shands Children’s Hospital at its tenth annual Log a Load for Kids Skeet Shoot at the Coon Bottom Gun Club in Havana on Saturday, April 16.

Participants and sponsors from the Tallahassee and Havana areas came together Saturday morning support Shands Children’s Hospital. Dylan Bozeman, a Tallahassee child who has been treated at Shands, was a special guest at the event and even took home one of the Top Shooter prizes.

“Everyone at Shands recognizes and appreciates the support of Log a Load for Kids,” Shands representative Lee-Ann Humenik commented at the event. “The money raised here today will do so much—from funding life-saving treatments to purchasing toys that will make a child’s hospital stay a little more pleasant.”

Log a Load for Kids is a voluntary program by Florida’s forest industry. One hundred percent of funds raised through Log a Load goes directly to Florida’s children’s hospitals—no administrative costs are taken out. As the program enters its tenth year in 2005, it has raised over $1 million for children’s hospitals in Florida.

Florida Log a Load for Kids is sponsored by the Florida Forestry Association. For more information on Log a Load for Kids and its upcoming events, please contact Erin Glover at (850) 222-5646 or erin@forestfla.org.
