Lisa Danger

Assistant Manager
Sam's Club, Port St. Lucie

Lisa Danger lives in Sebastian and works at Sam's Club in Port-St. Lucie. Lisa has been a Wal-Mart/Sam's Club employee for six years and has been an assistant manager at the Port St. Lucie Sam's Club since the spring of 2007. In 2006, this Sam's Club raised $5,142 for Shands Children's Hospitals. Largely due to Lisa's inspiration and commitment, this Sam's Club has exceeded its 2006 amount by $2,700.

In addition to her in-store fundraising efforts, earlier this year Lisa donated seven beautiful, handmade Afghans to Shands. This kind contribution placed smiles on the young faces of hospitalized children as they were delivered to each room. Lisa said, "My Godmother, Theresa, passed on her love of crochet to me as well as teaching all of us how to courageously face a terminal illness. My mother, Lucille, encouraged my artistic side when I was younger. My mom is a six year cancer survivor and I hope I can face life's challenges with her determination and courage. If my hobby brings comfort to others in their time of need, it is one more tribute to these wonderful women in my life."

An associate mentioned that Lisa should consider submitting the time she spent crocheting the Afghans to the Wal-Mart Volunteer Associate Program. Lisa submitted her time, and several weeks later, she gave the money she received for her volunteer hours to Children's Miracle Network.

Shands Children's Hospitals is thankful for dedicated volunteers like Lisa who give from their heart. She inspires us all to do whatever we can to help make kids better.
